

It Doesn't Get Much Better Than Kimono Condoms

Kimono condoms are among the most popular brands in the world. Made by Mayer Laboratories, Kimono condoms are about 20% thinner than the regular condoms offered by other condom manufacturers. Yet, they are very durable and reliable.

Mayer Laboratories has been around since 1986. Since that time, the company has established an impressive reputation for providing high-quality reproductive and healthcare products. In addition to its line of Kimono condoms, Mayer Laboratories offers products such as eZ-on Condoms, female condoms, lubricants and gels. Although they have only been in business for a little over 20 years, Mayer Laboratories has managed to land thousands of accounts with wholesale agencies, retail outlets, and government institutions throughout the world.

Although Mayer Laboratories is based in Japan, its Kimono condoms have become quite popular in the United States. In fact, Kimono condoms consistently achieve the highest rankings when rated by consumers and government agencies.

Kimono condoms also take a unique approach to their marketing strategies and toward their research. Rather than making their condoms with the man in mind, Kimono condoms are made with the woman in mind. This way, both the man and the woman can enjoy the highest level of pleasure possible.

The original style of Kimono condoms is shaped to be form-fitting and is 20% thinner than most condoms. Nonetheless, the Kimono condoms line still offers a MicroThin version. Kimono condoms MicroThin is 38% thinner than the standard condom, which makes it 20% thinner than the thin condoms offered by other companies.

The Kimono condoms line also offers MicroThin LARGE condoms, which are also 38% thinner than standard condoms. At the same time, this line has greater length and more head room while being 25-45% thinner than the large condoms offered by other condom makers. The Kimono condoms MAXX line is also a larger condom, but is not designed to be extra thin. Rather, it focuses more on providing a convex shape and a silky feel.

You can also find texture with Kimono condoms if you want extra stimulation. The Kimono Type E condom has a striking green color as well as several rows of Sensi-dots and ribs.

Another innovative design that is offered by Mayer Laboratories is the eZ-on Condom. eZ-on condoms are the first condom in the world that can unroll in either direction. Therefore, you don't have to worry about accidentally putting them on the wrong way and having to toss it out for a new one. It is also latex-free, which makes it a good choice if you or your partner suffer from latex allergies.

The Aqua Lube personal lubricant produced by Mayer Laboratories is also very popular. This lubricant is included in the Kimono condoms, but can also be purchased separately. Since it is water-based, you can safely use it with any condom. Or, you can safely use the Aqua Lube Advanced Formula Gel, which is an excellent option if you or your female companion suffers from vaginal dryness.

In short, Mayer Industries produces some of the best sexual health products in the industry. So, if you are looking for the best, you really don't have to look any further than Kimono condoms.
