

Limo Rental Companies

Numerous Limousine Rental Companies are booked a year in advance so it is wise to book your wedding limousine service well in advance if you want to get a better limousine or specific style of limousine, if you are planning to rent a limousine for your wedding during Prom season or high demand wedding season, don't wait. Try to book it as soon as you are certain that you want or need a limousine. Typical local yellow pages, local newspapers and special event publications and online sites are good resources, but remember, the largest ad or most impressive web site doesn't always mean the best limousine or the best deal. Firstly, determine what your needs are, i.e. the type of limousine, desired color, the number of passengers it needs to accommodate, etc, then make a list of limousine company names and telephone numbers and call a number of limousine companies to determine the available types and colors of limousines, the vintage of the limousines, associated available features and services and the costs involved. Always be sure to write down the information you receive so it will be easier to compare costs and features after the impact of the sales presentation wears off.

Every limousine rental company will probably offer different prices based on the year, make and features of the limousine and the associated services offered. Few even offer bar or champagne service (usually the cheap stuff at a high price) while others allow you to provide your own beverages. Always keep in mind that in some areas, alcoholic beverages in a motor vehicle are prohibited by law. Though price is a consideration, a better price does not always mean the most reliable service so if possible it is wise to actually visit the limousine rental company before you decide to rent to actually look at the limousine and view their operation. Few years ago while on a business trip people rented a black stretch Lincoln Continental limousine over the phone to surprise some business associates at the airport and take them to the hotel where all were awaiting their arrival. Unluckily, there is a high turnover in new limousine rental companies who go out of business within the first 12 to 18 months of business. It means that the company you contract today may not be around when you need them. But they have been in business for a few years and have newer limousines; odds are good they will probably be in business in the future as well. It is a really handy thing to have and believe it or not some have air conditioning/heat originating in the driver's area only - which does not circulate well to the passenger area. Few older model limousines also usually only have one air conditioning compressor which will not do much too cool things off on a hot/humid day.
